7. Compromised Account Recovery Policy and Criteria

• Compromised Account Recovery Policy

- Members shall be liable for the protection and management of their account/personal/payment information.

- If an account has been compromised, members can apply for compromised account recovery by contacting Customer Support.

- All information required on the form must be filled out to apply for compromised account recovery.

- In order to prevent further harm to the compromised account and begin our investigations, members must agree to a "Temporary Restriction" on the account that applied for compromised account recovery. The "Temporary Restriction" will last 7 days at most, but extensions on paid content cannot be provided as a result of the temporary restriction. Members that do not agree to the "Temporary Restriction" will assume all liability for all damages, complications arising in the investigation, and additional losses that may occur.

- The investigation and item recovery for compromised accounts may take up to 30 days.

- The Company shall not be liable for temporary/permanent restrictions due to violations of the Operational Policy in accordance with "Rights and Obligations of Members" under Article 1 of this Operational Policy, and for any harm caused by the use of member's account information by third-parties as a result of negligence in protecting and managing their account information.

• Criteria for Compromised Account Recovery

- Recovery may not be possible after a certain period of time (approximately 15 days) since the account was compromised, as the Company may be unable to accurately verify the data or the time required may be too excessive.

- The Company will judge whether or not an item can be recovered depending on the results from the investigation.

- Recovery support will not be possible if the security services (OTP and/or PC registration) provided by the Company were not being used.

- Recovery support will follow the criteria set below. Recovery that is not under the "Criteria for Compromised Account Recovery" will be determined by the normal recovery criteria.

- Recovered items may differ from the item that was lost. The details as to why the items may differ will not be explained.

• Members must immediately report receiving pearl items (items must not be used) from an unknown account by contacting Customer Support. Members that have received pearl items from compromised accounts and have not reported receiving the gift from an unknown account will be penalized as being involved in compromising the account and may be restricted from the game.

• The Company may remove the restriction if the member is able to prove that they were not involved with compromising the account even though they have received a gift from an unknown account. However, the restriction will not be removed if the member is not able to prove they have not been involved with compromising the account or if the Company deems the member as being involved.
