4. How long does Pearl Abyss retain the information and how is it deleted?

The Company maintains and uses the collected information for the duration of users' membership with their given consent. In principle, once the purpose of gathering and using provided personal information is fulfilled (ex. on request of membership withdrawal, closing of a participatory event), the relevant information will be eliminated immediately. (However, to prevent undesired membership withdrawal due to any identity theft and account-takeover identity theft, the user's personal information will be stored for 15 days after requesting account deletion.)

However, the following information will be retained for the specified period of time under respective reasons in accordance with the relevant act on data in the Republic of Korea. They will not be used for any other purposes.

1) Reasons for retaining information under relevant laws

① Protection of Communications Secrets Act

- Log-in records: 3 months

② Act on the Consumer Protection in Electronic Commerce, etc.

- Records of labeling and advertisement: 6 months
- Records of contracts or withdrawal of membership: 5 years
- Records on payment and supply of goods, etc.: 5 years
- Records on consumer complaint and conflict settlement: 3 years

③ Framework Act on National Taxes, Corporate Tax Act

- Account book and evidential document for all transactions stipulated in the tax law: 5 years

2) Reasons for retaining personal information under the company's internal guidelines

The Company may retain personal information collected through events or promotions for a maximum of 1 year. The duration may differ depending on each event or promotion, and the period of collecting and utilizing data guided in each event or promotion will be employed first.

Additionally, the Company has legitimate interest in storing the following information to restrict Steam account holders from acquiring certain items multiple times by deleting and re-registering their accounts. (We cannot determine the identity of users using this information.)

- Steam member identification number, DLC item delivery information

In principle, the Company instantly eliminates users' personal information once the purpose of collecting and utilizing relevant information is fulfilled or the duration for preserving and utilizing relevant data is expired. The procedure and operation of deleting personal information are as follows:

1) Deletion Procedure

Users' personal information will be instantly erased once the purpose of collecting and utilizing relevant information is fulfilled (15 days after the grace period for membership withdrawal). However, it is held for a certain period, for the purpose of information protection as stipulated by the law (refer to "4. How long does Pearl Abyss retain the information?").

2) Deletion Method

Personal information printed out on paper (printed material, papers, etc.) is shredded or incinerated, and information saved in the form of an electronic format is permanently deleted in such a way that it cannot be recovered.

5. How does Pearl Abyss transfer information overseas?

Your information may be sent overseas as the Company provides services worldwide. Each country may have different laws pertaining to information protection. In particular, if you are residing in a European country, laws on the protected range of information in other countries outside of the EEA (European Economic Area) may be different to that of your own country of residence. The company will comply with the relevant laws to protect your information. Please refer to '6. How is the information protected?' for details on how your information will be protected.

The Republic of Korea and the EU have adopted the Personal Information Protection Adequacy Decision for the transfer of personal information to the Republic of Korea in accordance with the GDPR.

- The Personal Information Protection Act in the Republic of Korea guarantees equal protection of personal information as the GDPR of the EU.
- Personal information can be safely transferred from the EU to the Republic of Korea without the need for additional authentication according to the Adequacy Decision.

You can always reach Support (<https://support.pearlabyss.com/Support/>) or the personnel or department in charge of privacy protection (privacy@pearlabyss.com) and request discontinuance of an overseas transfer of your personal data. However, if some information is not provided to an overseas partner per your request, you may experience some limitations when using our official website or game services.

When transferring your information to partners and service providers listed under '3. Who does Pearl Abyss share your information with?', the Company transfers information in compliance with the European Commission's Standard Contractual Clauses. Your information will be transferred with adequate protection. For more information, please feel free to contact Support on our official website

(<https://support.pearlabyss.com/Support/>) or the personnel or department in charge of privacy protection (privacy@pearlabyss.com).

6. How is the information protected?

The Company uses the following technology, management, and physical measures to prevent data loss, theft, breach, alteration, and destruction. However, the company is not liable if the data is leaked due to your negligence such as poor password management or mishaps outside of the company's control.

1) Technology

- The Company encrypts the information specified within, as well as additional relevant laws and regulations, when it gets stored.
- Files and data transfers containing important information (including your personal information) are protected by encryptions, file locks, or other such protection methods.
- The Company has backup systems to prevent your information from getting leaked or destroyed. The company utilizes anti-virus programs, firewalls, and other various security devices to protect your information.
- The Company is taking the necessary security measures for its systematically organized database system to process personal information.

2) Management

- The Company keeps access rights to your information to a minimum. The minimum number of personnel given access to your information are the following:
 - ① Personnel that are directly involved with marketing, events, customer support, and delivery (including personnel in partner companies and service providers);
 - ② Personnel that are in charge of personal information including our Data Protection Officer;
 - ③ Parties handling personal information for inevitable business purposes.
- The Company carries out a training program about personal information protection on a regular basis for personnel and consigned companies handling personal data.
- The company established Privacy Policy with the department in charge of personal information protection. Additionally, the company aims to enforce internal regulations and rectify issues as soon as they are discovered.

3) Physical Security

- The company has a separate location where personal information is physically stored. Entry to and operation of this location is strictly monitored with an established entry protocol.
- Documents with personal information and other forms of information storage are installed by locking devices in safe locations.

7. What information is automatically collected (e.g. cookies)?

The Company uses 'cookies'. Cookies are small text files sent by the company's official website that are stored in your hard drive. The following information pertains to the use of cookies, etc.

1) Purposes for using cookies

Analysis of subscribers and non-subscribers accessing our official website and duration, to understand and track user preferences and interests, provide other personalized services by tracking the number of times the website has been accessed, as well as other information.

The Company and third-party analysis service providers use tracking technologies such as cookies, beacons, tags, or scripts. These technologies are generally used by the company to collect statistics about the websites to analyze tendencies, manage the website, and to understand how our website is used. The Company may receive collected data as a whole from analysis service providers that use these technologies.

2) How to block cookies from getting saved

You have the right to block cookies from getting saved on your hard drive. This can be done by going to your web browser's option settings to allow all cookies, ask for permission each time cookies get saved, or to block all cookies from getting saved. However, if the user refuses to have cookies saved, some services may be no longer available.
